Mayor picks school fight

In his annual speech, Bloomberg suggests $20,000 raises for educators, and volunteers to pay student loans for new teachers But teachers' union says he's living 'in a fantasy world'

Mayor Michael Bloomberg vowed to make improving New York City schools one of his most prominent goals during his last two years in office, devoting the bulk of his State of the City address Thursday to education.

"The work of school reform, as difficult as it can be, is still far from done," he said.

In the speech, given at Morris High School in the Bronx, Bloomberg pitched radical ideas about how to keep great teachers and ferret out ineffective ones. Among the boldest of his suggestions was to give high-performing teachers $20,000-a-year raises. He also said he wants the city to pay student loans up to $25,000 for college graduates who commit to long-term teaching in New York City public schools.

Bloomberg also vowed to continue making stricter standards for the teacher tenure system. In June, he said, the percentage of teachers receiving tenure was 57 percent, a drop from 97 percent before he started reforming the system, he noted.

▶ Bloomberg vowed education reform with or without cooperation from the city teachers' union.

The mayor also made it clear that he would pursue the goals with or without support from one of his most powerful and long-running adversaries, the United Federation of Teachers, the city's teachers' union.

"We expect the UFT will support the Department of Education in this effort," he said. "But if not, there are other ways to achieve it."

UFT president Michael Mulgrew slammed Bloomberg for his speech, saying he "seems to be lost in his own fantasy world of education." Mulgrew said the mayor has "mishandled" schools already and warned that proposals like a merit-based pay system require union negotiation.

Mulgrew wasn't alone. Manhattan Borough President Scott Stringer also criticized Bloomberg's do-it-alone tone, which he said left out parents and principals.

"Mayor Bloomberg can't improve city schools by himself," he said. "This speech did nothing to forge those partnerships."

But the mayor's speech was not completely serious: Bloomberg introduced himself with a comical video that showed him hailing a livery cab, now newly legal under a plan he pushed for.

Inside the car, he passed Department of Transportation head Janette Sadik-Khan cycling past in a bike lane, another city improvement he lauded in the address.

Other goals

Education isn't the only thing on Bloomberg's list. For 2012, he also promised to work on:

- Attracting new companies to Grand Central Terminal
- Helping 9,000 unemployed veterans in the city get jobs
- Building new affordable housing in Hunter's Point South in Queens and Harlem
- Completing construction on Williamsburg's McCarren Pool
- Bringing Wi-Fi to 12 city parks
- Requiring delivery cyclists to have identifying clothing
- Making it easier for foreign tourists to get travel visas to come to New York City
- Adding cameras to NYPD's counterterrorism program

Wants to raise minimum wage

NEW YORK. Many were also surprised Thursday when Bloomberg made the call to increase New York state's minimum wage. The mayor asked Albany legislators to raise the rate, now at $7.25 per hour. "The genius of the free market is not always perfect," he said. The minimum wage, Bloomberg said, needs to be "high enough so people can get by on it without having a negative economic impact." Get wild for wildlife

Time to dig out your swimsuit. The fourth annual "Naked" Polar Bear Cruise will be Feb. 25. The cruise, a partnership between the Circle Line Sightseeing Cruises and the Coney Island Polar Bear Club, isn't as chilly as it seems – bathing suits are required. Participants can "enjoy a frosty ride," organizers promise, along the Hudson River and raise money for the Wildlife Conservation Society. All funds go to help save wildlife, and those who brave the cold the longest will receive mystery prizes. METRO/AB

Woman rescued after car plunges into Hudson

UPPER WEST SIDE. In what may have been a suicide attempt, a New Jersey woman was rescued after her car careened through a guardrail on the West Side Highway and landed in the Hudson River on Thursday morning.

According to reports, the woman skidded off the highway and onto a service road at 96th Street. From there, her car tore through a fence and plunged into the Hudson River. She somehow managed to get out of the car after it hit the water, an FDNY spokesman said. The woman, still conscious, was in the icy Hudson River when an Emergency Services Unit detective jumped in to save her. He pulled her to shore at 96th Street and the car was pulled from the water. Bronx student hopes for bone marrow match

HARLEM. A 20-year-old New Yorker is hoping that a bone marrow drive on Friday will save his life. Dionis Guerrero Baez was studying biochemistry at Hofstra University in 2009 when he was diagnosed with acute lymphoblastic leukemia.

He needs a bone marrow transplant, and his mother and two sisters died in a plane crash years ago, leaving him without potential family matches.

The bone marrow drive will be Friday at the Morgan Stanley Children's Hospital of New York Presbyterian at Broadway and 166th Street from 7 a.m. to noon. Organizers say it only takes participants two cheek swabs, and two minutes, to find out if they are a match. METRO/AB

Parks staffer charged with hate crime

Police arrested a New York City Parks Department employee Wednesday night and charged him with committing a disturbing hate crime in December. Bronx resident Fariz Ahmemulic, 28, is accused of hanging a black baby-doll from a metal chain noose in the Parks Department's Bronx headquarters.

Police say Ahmemulic hung the doll in the building's garage on Dec. 20. Parks Dept. employee Anthony Crum, who stumbled upon the doll, says he was traumatized by the discovery and has since filed a $15 million discrimination lawsuit against the city.

Crum alleges in the lawsuit that Ahmemulic admitted to the crime immediately but that Parks Dept. managers delayed reporting it. More time went by — weeks — before police were able to make an arrest in connection with the crime.

Ahmemulic was charged with aggravated harassment as well as aggravated harassment as a hate crime.

He has been suspended without pay, said a Parks Dept. spokesman.

"It is very clear sensitivity training must be mandated for the Parks Department."

Staten Island company pleads to scamming MTA

STATEN ISLAND. A Staten Island car service company pleaded guilty on Tuesday to swindling thousands of dollars from the New York City Transit Authority in phony Access-a-Ride vouchers.

Richmond Management Services, which operated under the name "Wadsworth Car Service," was supposed to provide transportation services to Staten Islanders with disabilities, but instead billed the MTA for more than $200,000 in bogus rides. In some cases, Wadsworth drivers even pretended to be customers, filling out vouchers for rides they gave themselves.

MARINE PARK. Police found a man's charred body inside a smoldering pile of garbage early Thursday morning in Brooklyn. Firefighters were called to 2171 Hendrickson Street in Marine Park to put out a garbage fire outside a Furniture Zone store. Urination vid stirs anti-US outrage abroad

A video showing what appear to be American forces urinating on dead Taliban fighters prompted anger in Afghanistan and promises of a U.S. investigation on Thursday, but the insurgent group said it would not harm nascent efforts to broker peace talks.

The video, posted on YouTube and other websites, shows four men in camouflage Marine combat uniforms urinating on three corpses. One of them jokes: "Have a nice day, buddy." Another makes a lewd joke.

Afghan President Hamid Karzai condemned the video, describing the men's actions as "inhuman" and calling for an investigation, in a statement on Thursday evening.

It is likely to stir up already strong anti-U.S. sentiment in Afghanistan after a decade of a war that has seen other cases of abuse, and that could complicate efforts to promote reconciliation as troops pull out.

"Such action will leave a very, very bad impact on peace efforts," Arsala Rahmani, a senior member of the Afghan government's High Peace Council, told Reuters. REUTERS

'Thank you, oh lord, for the Pirate Bay most of all'

STOCKHOLM. Sweden dealt a symbolic blow to the global fight against digital music and film piracy by recognizing a group that promotes file-sharing across the Internet as a religion.

One of the most wired nations in the world, Sweden has long been a battleground between those who support file-sharing and the music and film industry. The Nordic state is home to the world's largest file-sharing site, Pirate Bay.

Russia not sure where its space debris will fall

MOSCOW. Russia said on Thursday it was expecting debris from its failed Mars probe to fall to Earth from Sunday to Monday, but added it could not be sure of the exact crash site.

Stargazers and space agencies worldwide are scrambling to determine where and when Russia's botched $165 million mission to retrieve dust from Mars' moon Phobos will crash since it was junked in orbit after a launch in November.

Space agency Roskosmos on Thursday said atmospheric drag and solar activity might still alter the trajectory of the Phobos-Grunt craft. REUTERS

Elvis Duran, host of "Elvis Duran and the Morning Show," reveals his top picks for 2012:

Actresses and actors to watch

1. Elizabeth Olsen: The Olsen twins' younger sister got a head start in 2011 with her impressive performance in "Martha Marcy May Marlene" and she'll continue the momentum with "Liberal Arts," written and directed by Josh Radnor. She'll also appear in the horror flick "Silent House" (March 9) and paranormal thriller "Red Lights."

2. Gina Carano: How does a mixed martial arts fighter end up as the lead in the Steven Soderbergh spy thriller, "Haywire"? She kicks ass, obviously.

3. Lily Collins: The spawn of "Sussudio" impresario Phil Collins already had her coming-out party in 2011 with roles in "Abduction" and "Priest." This year the 22-year-old has a starring role in Tarsem Singh's lighthearted take on the Snow White fairy tale in "Mirror Mirror" (March 16).

4. Andrea Riseborough: Thank Madonna for bringing this English Rose to the forefront in 2012. Riseborough will start off the year with the Madge-directed feature "W.E." (Feb. 3). She'll stay front of mind with IRA thriller "Shadow Dancer," as well as "Disconnect," co-starring "True Blood" babe Alexander Skarsgard.

5. Taylor Schilling: Though she may've been the lead in failed TV show "Mercy" and dead-on-arrival "Atlas Shrugged: Part One," somebody in Hollywood must have faith in this 27-year-old in order to cast her opposite Zac Efron in the romantic drama "The Lucky One" (April 20). Schilling will also star in Ben Affleck-directed political thriller "Argo."

6. Josh Hutcherson: This 19-year-old actor has been working steadily, but it'll be the March 23 release of "The Hunger Games" that makes him a star. While we can't promise he'll be the next Robert Pattinson — RPatz will always have a special vampire lair in our hearts — the series' rabid fan base will give Hutcherson a fast-pass to megastardom.

7. Michael Fassbender: We're not going to hide our partiality to this 34-year-old Irish-German export. His upcoming spy flick, "Haywire" (Jan. 20), combined with all the awards season buzz he's been getting for his performance in 2011's "Shame" will propel Fassbender to A-List by the time his sci-fi film "Prometheus" is released on June 8.

8. Chris Diamantopoulos: We finally learned how to spell Galifianakis, so it's about time another comedic actor with an impossibly lengthy Greek last name take the scene by storm. The "Up All Night" actor will soon star in "The Three Stooges" (April 13), in which he plays Moe, the only Stooge with a passable haircut.

9. Taylor Kitsch: The "Friday Night Lights" star appears in two huge movies this summer: the sci-fi epic "John Carter," set on Mars, and "Battleship," a live-action version of the popular board game.

10. Douglas Booth: Could the role of Romeo in the latest "Romeo and Juliet" turn Booth into another Leonardo DiCaprio? With a second starring role alongside Disney princess-turned-stoner Miley Cyrus in "LOL...," well, we may have found our RPatz replacement after all.

New musicians to watch

1 Lana Del Rey
Del Rey released a video this summer that was so hot that every blogger in the world watched it back-to-back enough that they were all fighting to be the first to declare her passé by the next day. But for those of us who are just interested in good music, and care more about hearing it than hearing it first, Del Rey's sultry take on gangsta will be a breath of fresh air when her debut drops at the end of this month.

2 King Krule
If you didn't know that Archy Marshall was a fresh-faced 17-year-old, and you heard his patient beats, sophisticated guitar chords, moody words and his low London voice, you might think he was in his 30s and possibly was the type of character who accompanied Pete Doherty through every stint in rehab. But luckily for us, Marshall has many years ahead of him.

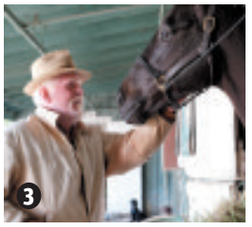
New TV series to watch

1: JORDIN ALTHAUS/SHOWTIME; 2: JAMES DITTIGER/FOX; 3: GUSMANO CESARETTI; 4: MARK SELIGER/NBC; 5: FRANCISCO ROMAN/ABC

1 'House of Lies'
The buzz: Oscar-winner Don Cheadle gets what he wants — by any means necessary — as cutthroat management consultant Marty Kaan, who charges America's 1 percent for his high-priced advice (and the occasional night of strip club debauchery).
Why we'll be watching: It's fascinating to watch the serious, intense Cheadle morph into such a charismatic con man. Matching his wit is Kristen Bell as an ambitious member of Marty's team.
Premieres Jan. 8 at 10 p.m. on Showtime.

2 'Alcatraz'
The buzz: J.J. Abrams. Mysterious island. Hugo!
Why we'll be watching: Alcatraz, the island prison off of San Francisco, already holds plenty of intrigue — and even more so in this drama when former inmates who were presumed dead become linked to modern crimes. Add the storytelling prowess of Abrams and familiar Lostie Jorge Garcia, and we're already formulating conspiracy theories.
Premieres Jan. 16 at 8 p.m. on Fox.



3 'Luck'
The buzz: "Deadwood" creator David Milch is back on HBO. This time, he's bringing Dustin Hoffman and director Michael Mann with him for a series on one of his passions: horse racing.
Why we'll be watching: Simply put: Milch creates beautiful television (you just need a little patience when watching his densely layered epics). Add the allure of thoroughbreds, gambling and Oscar-winner Hoffman, and "Luck" is a sure bet.
Premieres Jan. 29 at 9 p.m. on HBO.

4 'Smash'
The buzz: "American Idol" runner-up Katharine McPhee stars as a wannabe Broadway star who auditions for a musical about the life of Marilyn Monroe. Debra Messing and Anjelica Huston also star.
Why we'll be watching: Every network's been trying to figure out how to mimic the success of "Glee" with their own musical series; NBC nails it with this behind-the-Broadway-scenes drama from Steven Spielberg. It's going to be, well, a "Smash."
Premieres Feb. 6 at 10 p.m. on NBC.

5 'The River'
The buzz: "Paranormal Activity" creator Oren Peli brings his mastery of "found footage" scares to the small screen.
Why we'll be watching: The host of a nature series goes missing in the Amazon, so — cameras in tow — his wife and son go searching for him. If you're not already creeped out by what's lurking in those waters, the supernatural elements to this tale will provide plenty to shriek about. Steven Spielberg's attached his name to this one, too.
Premieres Feb. 7 at 9 p.m. on ABC.

AMBER RAY

the 20-year-old Harlem native Azealia Banks.

4 Michael Kiwanuka
His song, "Tell Me a Tale," sounds at first like a forgotten song from the 1970s, but once he gets to the chorus you'll know that not only is this a song of the new decade, but one that will not be forgotten. The fact that he has released three EPs in the past 12 months should also be a testament to that. PAT HEALY

▶ Ashton Kutcher told journalists at the Television Critics Association press tour he's game for playing Walden Schmidt after his contract with "Two and a Half Men" is up this season.

CBS at TCA: More Ashton Kutcher, finally meeting 'Mother'?

The length of the 'Two and a Half Men' star's stint is discussed, as is the endgame for the hit 'How I Met Your Mother' 'Viewers will meet Ted's kids' mom'

Though he is only signed onto "Two and a Half Men" for this season (and despite the gossipy turmoil in his personal life), Ashton Kutcher says he is happy at work on the set of the hit CBS sitcom "Two and a Half Men" and is interested in sticking around.

"The deal that we structured for the show was kind of a test. Can we get the show up? Can we get it going?" Kutcher said of the one-year contract he signed to take the lead in "Men" after Charlie Sheen exited. "The show is outperforming the numbers from before I was here, and so I think that people are responding to it. And, you know, for me, having a show that people like and people want more of, that will dictate my decision," he explained while promoting the show at the Television Critics Association press tour in Pasadena, Calif., on Wednesday.

Though he is slated to film a number of movies after this season of "Men" wraps, Kutcher is already considering that time off as just a temporary break from the set. "Right now I'm looking at it as a hiatus, because I'm having a lot of fun doing the show and working with these guys and would be interested in coming back if we can work that out," he said.

TCA diary

The Television Critics Association press tour, a meeting of journalists and networks to preview new and returning series, kicked off last Friday. Follow Amber on Twitter at @amberatmetro and visit www.metro.us/tv for more TCA updates.

When will we meet the 'Mother'?

As for the fate of "HIMYM," creator Carter Bays says setting an end-date for the series "is not a high priority for us," though he promises the writers "know what the endgame of the series is" and will plan accordingly so viewers do, eventually, meet Ted's kids' mom.

"I would imagine, going into the final season, we'd probably hip people to that and let them know, like, 'OK, we're coming up on the end,'" he said of the series, which CBS is committed to through at least May 2013.

That's a plan that works for series star Jason Segel. "I'd like to see the story come to its natural end," the actor said. "I was so relieved when I found out there was an actual plan."

Some prime Real Estate

New Jersey band wound up on a number of impressive 'best of' lists at the end of last year They begin this year by graduating to bigger venues 'It's nice,' says singer

SHAWN BRACKBILL

Matt Mondanile is late and getting later for our 11 a.m. interview. Three hours pass by and finally he's on the phone admitting that he slept until noon. He sounds pleased.

"We've been touring Europe and the U.S. for the past couple of months and we get no sleep at all. Very little sleep," he says.

So, his tardiness is forgiven, especially as the band is back on the road to no sleep this month with some East Coast dates. After reuniting with erstwhile touring mates Girls in New York, Real Estate embark on a headlining stint from Boston onward.

"We're playing bigger halls, I believe. We don't pay attention to it much, but it's nice," he says. "We are happy. It's nice that people come to our shows and stuff."

The "and stuff" part includes Real Estate landing on a lot of "best of" lists from high-profile music mags and websites — "Pitchfork," "Uncut," "Q" — with their shimmering psych pop second album "Days," released in October.

"I saw it on NPR's [site] today too," adds Mondanile. "We're happy about the lists. But I feel that anybody who put out a record in January or February doesn't make the lists. No one can remember them."

Lists, we conclude, are often spurious. Take Rolling Stone's recent Top 100 Guitarists Of All Time, which had the late Pantera guitarist Dimebag Darrell above Thurston Moore of Sonic Youth.

"Yeah, I saw that," the 26-year-old Mondanile says. "How do they come up with that? I'm sure their managers argue, 'No, he's got to be No. 6!' It seems a bit meaningless."

The feed ...

On Fridays, Dorothy will post the best tweets she received during the week. You can always let her know what you think — good or bad — at @dorothyatmetro.

This week, my Twitter feed was abuzz with your thoughts on Jay-Z and Beyonce naming their daughter Blue Ivy. Conclusion: You don't dig the name ... by a lot. Here are some of the funniest comments I received from you. Oh, and HookedOncLo calls 'em like he sees 'em.

▶ @CityMaps: Blue Ivy sounds like a Lifetime movie about a sad girl named Ivy who just moved to a small town. Sequel to Savannah Smiles.

▶ @joshcutler: Sounds like new "look" from Zoolander

▶ @HookedOncLo: You're just upset that @KhloeKardashian is gorgeous and all u have going for yourself is Metro. #ByeGirl Stop Hating!

THE WORD

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip @dorothyatmetro dorothy.robinson@metro.us

JLo is paying Casper Smart $10,000 a week

It pays to be Jennifer Lopez's boy toy.

Star magazine reports that Lopez is paying her former back-up dancer Casper Smart $10,000 a week so he can pretend like he has the funds to date her high-profile self. It's like crazy Britney Spears/K-Fed all over again! A source tells the mag, "She hated having to whip out her credit card every time they go to dinner. Jen figured it's easier to give Casper a weekly stipend, and she thought $10,000 was a nice, round number. Jen doesn't want to go over the top, showering Casper with too much, but she also wants him to up his game. Jen is hoping Casper won't think twice about buying presents for her kids or whisking her off for a surprise weekend getaway." Ha. No. $40,000 a month as payment to be your boyfriend isn't "over the top" at all, Jen! That's totally normal and sane behavior!

No wonder she's shilling so hard for Fiat — she has a boyfriend to support.

▶ Maybe Smart will use some of his payment for a shirt?

Minka Kelly and Jake Gyllenhaal?

Minka Kelly is back together with her on-again, off-again boyfriend, New York Yankees star Derek Jeter. But when they were last off she didn't exactly have a shortage of other options. Sources tells Us Weekly that Kelly shot down a come-on from Jake Gyllenhaal last fall while she was temporarily single. But that's not to say that Gyllenhaal isn't up to her standards. Kelly was just "trying to patch things up" with Jeter quietly at the time. Yeah, right. Like any single woman would turn down a proposition from Jake Gyllenhaal; this was just leaked by her to make Jeter jealous. I call shenanigans!

Talking points

Perry wins big for People's Choice

Her marriage to Russell Brand may be over, but at least Katy Perry has her fans to turn to. The singer won big at the People's Choice Awards this week, pulling in five awards: favorite female artist, tour headliner and for song of the year for "ET" with Kanye West, music video for "Last Friday Night" and TV guest star for "How I Met Your Mother," according to People magazine. There was a significant lack of acceptance speeches at the awards show, though, as Perry decided earlier in the week not to attend the ceremony.

▶ Perry, the big winner

Cox on 'Cougar Town'

Courteney Cox says her on-screen romance with "Cougar Town" co-star Josh Hopkins has led to some confusing moments at home with her 7-year-old daughter, Coco, since Hopkins is also a close family friend. "She shouldn't watch 'Cougar Town,' but she does," Cox tells Us Weekly about her daughter. "She's always like, 'Mommy! Did you really kiss Josh? And I'm like, 'I'm just faking it!'" Cox and Hopkins have been rumored to be dating in real life as well, but have both denied reports of a relationship.

When Obama and Angelina met

While in Washington, D.C., for a screening of "In the Land of Blood and Honey" at the Holocaust Memorial Museum, Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt made sure to swing by the White House for an Oval Office chat with Barack Obama, according to Hollyscoop. Jolie reportedly met with Obama to discuss sexual violence against women and Jolie's work with the United Nations. This is the couple's second trip to the Oval Office, after Pitt stopped by to discuss post-Katrina relief efforts in New Orleans in 2009.

Backstage at Wednesday night's 2012 People's Choice Awards

1. Whoever arranged this seating arrangement should get a raise: Betty White and Robert Pattinson sat next to one another at Wednesday night's 2012 People's Choice Awards at the Nokia Theater in L.A. How cute!

2. "Once Upon a Time" co-stars Ginnifer Goodwin and Jennifer Morrison posed backstage.

3. Emma Stone posed with her award for Favorite Movie Actress for her role in "The Help."

4. Neil Patrick Harris, dashing as always, won Favorite Network TV Comedy for his work on "How I Met Your Mother."

5. Actor Morgan Freeman won his first Favorite Movie Icon award.

6. Actresses Maya Rudolph and Whitney Cummings awkwardly mugged for the cameras.

7. Ellen DeGeneres showed off her award for Favorite Daytime TV Host.

8. Lea Michele, who won for Favorite TV Comedy Actress, chatted backstage with "Glee" co-star Cory Monteith.

Also opening. 'Beauty and the Beast' in 3-D

COURTESY OF WALT DISNEY PICTURES

"Beauty" is just that: a ravishing fairy tale, with every single hand-drawn frame a work of art. So why, then, cut up those delicate frames into 3-D? The answer, of course, is to compete in today's marketplace. Although the new 3-D sheen lacks the punch it promises, it's still exciting to see "Beauty and the Beast" return to screens so that parents raised on its romantic charms can share it with their kids.

CHRIS ALEXANDER

The steely determination of 'The Iron Lady'

COURTESY OF THE WEINSTEIN COMPANY

'The Iron Lady'
Director: Phyllida Lloyd
Cast: Meryl Streep, Jim Broadbent
Rating: PG-13
Grade: ❶❷❸❹❺

Meryl Streep is so flawless that she makes one of Britain's most controversial prime ministers completely sympathetic. But let's face it, she could play Hitler and we'd all be crying for poor Adolf at the end.

Known for her stringent economic austerity measures and tough stance against trade unions in the 1980s, Margaret Thatcher has just as many fans as detractors today. But what Streep and director Phyllida Lloyd present is a woman whose admirable determination transcends her own somewhat mixed political legacy.

The story is framed by three days in the life of Thatcher during her retirement years, as she slowly drifts into dementia. She's tasked with disposing of her deceased husband's clothes. And in those moments, she's reminded — very neatly and chronologically, of course — of pivotal moments in her life. True, they're not exactly reinventing the wheel here, but such a format allows the emphasis to be placed on Thatcher's humanity — her love of her husband and unflappability in the face of a government entirely dominated by men — rather than becoming a dry, procedural biography.

As you would expect, Streep gets Margaret Thatcher's high-pitched trill just right. Even if Margaret Thatcher isn't perfect, we at least know that Meryl Streep is.

'Joyful Noise'

Grade: ❶❷❸❹❺

"Joyful Noise" comes off in previews as a fun, feel-good, diva-licious tale of a small church choir looking to take home a national championship. And it is — sort of. But there's too much heaviness behind the scenes to really make this the upbeat musical it's positioned as. Parton and Latifah star as members of the Divinity Church Choir in the poverty-stricken town of Pacashau, Ga. The two divas butt heads on how the choir can win the National Joyful Noise Competition, which would bring the down-and-out town hope, inspiration, yada yada yada. It's just as cheesy as it sounds. The story is over-the-top dramatic with a number of sad subplots (two deaths, an autistic brother, a father in the military) that just add time, not depth. Parton and Latifah's immeasurable talents could have been better utilized elsewhere.

▶ "Contraband"

'Contraband'

Grade: ❶❷❸❹❺

How does "Contraband," the new Mark Wahlberg smuggling movie, feel about smuggling? Well, it's hard to tell. Smugglers are bad guys, especially when they're smuggling drugs, but if they're smuggling drugs to save their family then that's OK. Using the profits from smuggling for your own ends is wrong and you shouldn't do it, unless you use those profits to buy a house. All this cognitive dissonance is hardly unique to "Contraband," but it's a mark of the film's rote-ness that these questions are the only thoughts the film inspires in its two-hour runtime.

Ron Paul wants to curb our freedoms

RE: "WHO HERE CARES ABOUT ROMNEY?": So people want to know more about Ron Paul and how he is going to cut the deficit and increase our freedoms. Well for starters, he wants to cut or eliminate the FDA, the EPA and OSHA. That means that you will be free to eat tainted food, free to breathe polluted air and free to be killed or injured at the workplace. Women will have the right to be prostitutes, but because he is a conservative Christian, they will not have the freedom to control their own reproductive health. For you college students, Ron Paul would cut federal grants and student loans, so you will be free to drop out of school and get low-paying jobs as unskilled workers.

MATTHEW MILLER, VIA E-MAIL

What is the basis for all these claims that Ron Paul wants to expand our civil liberties? In fact, he wants to end some federal statutes that protect some of our most fundamental rights and give states the ability to deny us these liberties. He wants to strip away power from the fed over our private lives and instead give that power (and then some) to the states. I don't understand how this is an improvement in my individual civil liberties. Trading federal power over my life for state power over my life strikes me as difference without distinction.

SHANA CUDDY, VIA E-MAIL

Democrats whine; get over it, people

RE: "PLACING BLAME: IT'S ALL ON BUSH": Three years later, and Democrats still whine: "It's all Bush's fault." Democrats controlled Congress for the last six years of his term and the first two of Obama's. Blame belongs to all of them.

JENNIFER STEWART, VIA E-MAIL

"Just because people dream of owning a home doesn't mean they can afford one."

RE: "BLAME THE DEMOCRATS": It is time to place blame for the current recession square in the lap of the person who is largely responsible for it. I am talking of course about Bill Clinton. Former President Clinton orchestrated NAFTA, sending countless jobs out of America. He pushed banks to grant mortgage loans to sub-qualified applicants.

JOEY WHITMOYER, VIA E-MAIL

Ricky Capolupo blames liberals for having a poor memory. Yet Ben Bernake was appointed by George Bush, and after refusing to do anything about the housing bubble that "liberal" housing activists had been warning of for years, he did nothing until the collapse of the bubble created by large investment banks with their securitization of mortgages.

JAMES E. VAN LOOY, VIA E-MAIL

In 1992, President George H.W. Bush signed the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, amending the charter of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to reflect Congress' view that government-sponsored enterprises "... have an affirmative obligation to facilitate the financing of affordable housing for low- and moderate-income families." When are you Republicans going to start taking responsibililty for your actions?

Giants expect shootout

JIM MCISAAC/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Manning threw for 347 yards and three touchdowns against the Packers in Week 13.

If regular season was indication, passing attacks should be prevalent
Cruz: 'Offense can be dangerous'

While Giants head coach Tom Coughlin's philosophy stresses a strong running game, many of his offensive players are preparing for a shootout via the air.

That wouldn't be a shock considering Sunday's divisional round matchup in Green Bay features two of the top five passers in the game today.

As staunch a supporter as Coughlin is about the running game, he said he has total faith in Manning and Co. should it come down to that.

"He has confidence and his teammates have great confidence in him," Coughlin said. "And of course I have great confidence in him."

Manning went 23-of-40 for 347 yards, three touchdowns and one interception in the teams' first meeting and stayed yard-for-yard with Rodgers.

"I felt like we held our own that last game. It came down to a few plays and a few miscues that we didn't come through, so I think if we get into a shootout like we did last time I think we will be OK," said receiver Victor Cruz. "Everybody is hitting their stride and doing the right things at the right time. When everybody is rolling, healthy and ready to go it is hard to key on one specific person [and] hard to double-team one guy or focus on one guy. In our offense we can hit you from different places and areas of the field and with different personnel. … This offense can be very dangerous."

Cruz added he's seen holes in the Packers' defense that lead him to believe chunks of yards are there for the taking.

"In their secondary they like to gamble a lot," said Cruz. "They like to take a lot of chances and risks, which means they either win or they lose big, which explains why they lead the league in interceptions and why they lead the league in giving up big plays."

Rodgers is a Manning fan

Rodgers said he respects how level-headed Manning is during tough situations, much like himself.

"You have to have a lot of respect for Eli and the way he plays and his consistency. I think you always have to expect him and their offense to make some plays, so you have to go in knowing that you are going to have to put up some points of your own."

▶ B.J. Raji has 22 tackles and three sacks for the Packers.

Raji critical of Giants' O-linemen

Defensive tackle: Big Blue line 'not the toughest group' he's seen

Battle in trenches key to victory

One week after Giants defensive lineman Justin Tuck questioned the Falcons' "dirty" offensive line, it was the Packers turn to question the Giants' guys up front.

This time though, it wasn't about being dirty. Packers defensive tackle B.J. Raji straight out questioned the unit's toughness.

"I played [the Giants] once this year and once last year," Raji said. "I can only judge from my vantage point up front. [They're] not necessarily the most physical. Their backs are pretty physical, but it's not the toughest [offensive line]."

Not saying they're soft," Raji said. "But it's not the toughest group I have been against."

There were no critical comments by the Giants this week, but they know the game could be decided in the trenches.

"It's no surprise how this game is going to be won — by the offenses and defensive lines by either side," Giants left tackle David Diehl said. "And doing that is controlling the time of possession, controlling the line of scrimmage, keeping yourself in third and manageable downs instead of third-and-long situations. I think that's something we put on our back and said 'If we want to be successful, if we want to continue to keep this thing going, we need to get the run game going.'"

Injury report

The Giants come into Sunday's Packers game much healthier than Week 13.

- RB Ahmad Bradshaw (foot) was the only starter to not practice Thursday. He is expected to play however.
- S Deon Grant (quad), DE Osi Umenyiora (ankle/knee), CB Corey Webster (hamstring) and CB Aaron Ross (concussion) were all limited in practice. They also should play.

Jets owner defends QB Sanchez

Johnson, who is a big fundraiser for Romney, appeared on MSNBC's "Morning Joe" in support of the candidate, when the topic of his floundering football team came up.

For his part, he didn't shy away from the criticism his team has taken.

"I mean, quite frankly, New Yorkers don't like losers and even if it's an 8-8 record, that's not good enough here," Johnson said. "They want a winner and there is frustration and that's what you want."

He did disagree strongly with the anonymous assertion in this week's Daily News that quarterback Mark Sanchez wasn't a hard worker.

"I never saw that," he said. "He's the first guy in the building every morning and the last guy to leave, so lazy is the last thing he is. That's what you expect of an NFL quarterback." METRO

▶ Carmelo Anthony led all scorers with 27 points on the evening. He was just 9-of-24 from the field though.

Knicks stop streak

Defeat Sixers to end Philly's six-game run ◐ Ran out to early 28-15 lead ◐ Anthony leads New York in scoring ◐ Harrellson impressive off bench

What went right for the Knicks ...

1 Defense? — The Knicks continued their shocking streak of clamping down on opponents. This may be more of the norm going forward despite their being coached by Mike D'Antoni.

2 Starry night — The usual stars were out tonight, as both Carmelo Anthony and Amar'e Stoudemire had big nights. It was almost as if the duo took turns wounding the Sixers' usually-vaunted defense, as Anthony notched nine of his game-high 27 points in the opening quarter, while Stoudemire had 20 points on the night.

3 Big Jorts — Rookie forward Josh Harrellson was a nice addition to the rotation last night. The up-and-down first-year player was a surprise early entry into the game and immediately went to work. He notched seven of his 13 points in the first quarter, including a long-range three-pointer. He also hit a key three as time expired in the third.

What went wrong ...

1 Closeout — The biggest complaint of the Knicks' play was their inability to put away a team that was on the tail-end of a back-to-back-to-back trip. Too many times the Sixers got down by as many as 12, 14, 16 and 17 points only to crawl back within single digits.

2 Empty Fields — Landry Fields' struggles continued against the Sixers. D'Antoni believes he'll come out of it if he keeps being aggressive, but not last night. He had just four points in 35 minutes. Also, his plus/minus was -5, a stat D'Antoni likes to cite as a positive.

3 Get an assist — We know the Knicks have no point guard. It will really be evident in the postseason (fingers crossed). Last night no one had more than five assists and that was Anthony. Toney Douglas had zero in 17 minutes. ◐ TONY WILLIAMS

D'Antoni planning to keep starters

Knicks head coach Mike D'Antoni delivered good news to both Iman Shumpert and Landry Fields before yesterday's game.

That makes just one piece of good news for Knicks fans, however.

D'Antoni said he plans to leave Shumpert and Fields in the starting lineup for the foreseeable future.

"I like this starting group," D'Antoni said. "They seem like the way to go for right now. That's working. We just have to get guys a little bit more confidence with their games. I don't think it's where they are in the rotation. I think that will work itself out."

The second half of that statement refers to Fields, who has struggled this season.

"When he's on the floor, good things happen," D'Antoni said. "He just has to take that and just calm and he will shoot the ball well." ◐ METRO
